HAPPY DAY

The mini bouquet on this paper-covered chipboard pennant is made entirely out of cardstock. Cut paper petals and strips (to roll into roses) by hand, use a cutting machine for the intricate flower center and leaves, and then glue everything in place.

BY THE BOOK

From cover to cover, this decked-out photo book is made of chipboard! Start by folding a chipboard sheet in half to create the covers—be sure to score it in the center for the spine. Then add binder rings, hand-cut chipboard pages and tons of paper pretties.

PAGE TURNER

How to bring a photo book to life? Pack the pages with scrapbooking essentials like paper flowers, themed stickers, stamped designs and more!

SHOW YOUR CARDS

You can make hand-crafted cards like these with just a few basic papercrafting supplies! Grab a box of blank cards, a paper pack (or two!), scissors, a tape runner and all the stickers your heart desires (we have hundreds to choose from!).

On the Cover: This greenhouse-inspired display features cardstock cacti (placed in DIY paper pots), vines (embellished with paper flowers) and leaves (reinforced with floral wire stems).

MEMORY LANE

Vacation photos get the royal treatment with glittered paper!

Use a cutting machine to create regional symbols and landmarks, and make pictures pop off the page by backing them with foam adhesive dots.

OUT OF THE BLUE

Turn cardstock into geometric art! Top: Glue strips of paper into a shadowbox, mounting some with foam adhesive dots for depth, and layer a paper pattern on top. Bottom: Cut and stack abstract shapes, gluing rolled-up paper between the pieces for height.

Up the realism by scoring vein lines into the leaves, creasing them down the middle, and highlighting the edges with chalk ink.

LEAF IT BE

A house plant with no upkeep? Thank you, paper! To make the leaves, sandwich floral wire stems between two leaf cutouts. Then secure the stems to floral wire branches with floral tape and pop them into a paper-mache pot (yep, even the planter is paper!).

LOVE STORY

Can you believe the flowers and greenery on this wedding sign are paper? Just mix and match the readymade faux botanicals, and glue them into a wreath-like arrangement. F.Y.I. The sign is chipboard covered with paper and ribbon.

STATE OF THE ART

You can cut, shape and glue your way to textured wall art!

To mimic our abstract look, glue paper circles (folded in half with the rounded edges facing up) into designs inside a shadow box. P.S. Fill extra space in the frame with ribboned strips of paper.
