Beautiful Arrangements Inside!

Fresh Décor

Succulents come in a range of shapes, sizes and colors and bring a fresh, rustic aesthetic to any project you can dream up—like these décor pieces made from wood lanterns atop metal candlesticks.

Rattan Vase

Ready for a one-step craft? Insert assorted succulents (here, air plant, hanging bean leaf and green & gray picks) into a readymade woven vase, securing with hot glue as needed.

On the Cover: No need to lose your head. Simply place floral foam inside a bust vase, then insert a colorful variety of succulent picks into the foam. And voila!*

Bouquet

Sculptural and sturdy succulent leaves complement the delicate rose and peony petals in this modernist take on a wedding bouquet.

Tip: Use floral tape to extend the short stems of succulent picks.

Small Vases

So mini succulents, so little time! These tiny picks pack a lot of personality, which makes them perfect for fancy tablescapes and small spaces like offices, apartments and bookshelves.

Succulent Tray

A well-rounded table display should be made up of tall, medium and short elements to achieve visual balance. This tray décor features mini succulents and classic cacti nestled among vases of fluffy pampas and spiky podocarpus picks.

Succulent Wreath

This any-season wreath comes together with lush green moss and succulents aplenty. For a statement-making display, be sure to incorporate a variety of textures: spiky podocarpus, waxy Echeveria, plump hanging bean leaf, and beyond.

Hanging Succulents

Elevate your garden game...literally! Simply adhere a variety of colorful succulent blooms to DIY hanging planters (made of painted wood rings and wood shapes).

Wall Display

Looking for a fresh art piece that really pops off the wall? Look no further with this blossoming display! Just hot glue a piece of foam board inside a frame to help anchor moss and succulents into a wall-worthy arrangement.
